

Have you or a loved one looked for help after being hurt?

- Were you hurt by another person? This could be a total stranger or someone you know, it could have been at home or in the community.
- Did you experience a dangerous or violent event?
- Were you able to get the support and help you needed?
- Do you feel like you can't forget what happened or that you are acting differently because this happened?
- Would you like to share your experiences and knowledge so others get better support?

Illinois HEALS (Helping Everyone Access Linked Systems): An OVC Vision 21 Linking Systems of Care for Child and Youth Demonstration Project has an opportunity for young adults to share their experiences and help make important changes in the way Illinois helps victims of crime.

Join policy makers to improve Illinois' system for child and youth victims of violence:

- This survivor consultant should be able to share their experience with policy makers and able to participate in monthly meetings (some travel is required).
- This survivor consultant should be interested in how state service systems function and willing to use their experience to influence needed changes.
- Compensation is available for participation in monthly meetings, on-going consultation to the project.
